The Auction Variants

Buy now: A buy-it-now price can be entered for each vehicle. If the first bid corresponds to the buy-it-now price, then the auction ends immediately.

Last Minute: If bids are made in the proverbial last minute, the auction automatically is extended by a further minute.

Retention price: If the highest bid is below an optional reserve price, a speaker symbol indicates that the seller will (probably) not sell the vehicle to the highest bidder.

The auction surcharge is therefore "subject to retention".

Auctions on behalf of customers: You enable your trustworthy buyers to buy used cars directly from private sellers at a fair price.

Hereby, you can offer your customers and partners genuine added value and earn money from vehicle brokerage - without any capital commitment.

Special Auctions: Auctioning of "special articles", e.g. of accessories already written off in stock, such as "rim sets" or attachments, is possible. These accessories can be in your possession as well as in the possession of one of your customers and can be auctioned on their behalf.

Exclusive Auctions

In a specific CarBidOne client version, buyers/bidders of an exclusive group of a clients can be assigned to an auction. These exclusive auctions are only available for these group members, independent of their own client assignment.
